METHODIST AMUSEMENTS

THE BAN STILL RESTS UPON DANCING AND OTHER PRIVOLITIES.

By a Large Majority the Conference Decides to Maintain the Ministerial Time Limit-The Position of the Epworth League.

OMAHA. Neb., May 24.—Bishop Hurst pre sided over to day's session of the Methodist Conference. The Committee on the State of the Church filed a majority and a minority report touching dancing and other worldly amusements. The majority believe there is no suffieient reason for making the proposed change while the minority desire to eliminate the present penulty of expulsion and allow the members to decide for themselves what smusements are proper.

The report of the Committee on Enworth League, which was laid aside on Saturday, was taken up again. Dr. Caswell moved to consoldate the general secretaryship and the ediership of the Herald. The motion was defeated. The next fight was on a motion to strike out the clause permitting other societies to continue in existence on equi terms with the league. During the argument Dr. Berry and Mr. Murray of Pennsylvania had a heated collequy. Murray charged that collusion existed among certain committeenien by which a minority report was kept out of minority report was kept out of the Conference. The motion was defeated by a vote of 275 to 1634. Consequently the Epworth League will not be the only official Young People's Society in the Church.

The duties and authority of the officers of the Epworth League were discussed, and finally the whole roport was adopted and the leagues were received into the Church.

Several reports from committees were presented, the most important being that of the Committee on Prohibition declaiming against the use of tobacce by preachers and superintendents of Sunday schools.

Br. J. F. Herry, the present editor of the Epworth Herald, was elected official editor of that agger.

worth Herald, was elected official editor of that paper.

The remainder of the session was devoted to a discussion of the report of the Committee on Itinorancy, the question at issue being the removal of the time limit of the ministry. The proposition to remove the time limit was finally defeated by a vote of 208 to 102, and the Conference adjourned.

The Committee on the Book Concern recommended that the Rocky Mountain Advocate, published at Denver, be declared an official paper, provided there be no expense to the Book Concern.

The Committee on Education recommended that post-graduate courses be established in the various colleges, and asked for more liberal endowments to establish such courses.

The Committee on Temperance and Prohibition reported on the use of tobacco. In substance it reads:

"We are convinced that many young people."

bition reported on the use of tobacce. In substance it reads:

"We are convinced that many young people are led into habits of dissipation by early indulgence in the use of cigarettes, cigars, and other forms of narcotic poisons; therefore, we call upon our ministers and members to employ their utmost efforts to abate this evil. No preacher should be admitted to the General Conference who uses to bace. Superintendents of sunday schools should not use it."

The report went over for action.

The election of an editor for the Epworth Heraid was then called for, and Dr. J. F. Berry, the present editor, was re-elected.

The report of the Committee on Itineracy on the time limit of ministers was recalled. Dr. Caldwell argued against the pending amendment that the lishions refer the matter to the annual Conferences, and pleaded for the removal of the time limit. He held that if the limit were removed clerical policies would disappear, and instead of seeking elective offices preachers would seek to remain in their pulpits, where they are subreme in leading ment to God.

their pulpits, where they are subreme in leading men to God.

Dr. King of New York argued in favor of removing the limit, believing it to be the greatest move pending in Methodism.

Judge Murray of Pennsylvania opposed the removal, on the ground of undue influence of the "gilt-edge" preachers.

Dr. J. E. Chaffee of Minnesota favored the removal of the limit, saying that it was only a Dr. J. F. Chaffee of Minnesota favored the removal of the limit, saying that it was only a contest of the country against the city. Dr. Buckley of New York opposed it. He said the reason that there was no heresy in the Methodist Church was because the preachers did not stay long enough to absorb heretical theories.

did not stay long enough to absorb heretical theories.

G. H. Bridgeman of Minnesota moved to amend by giving the Bishop power to appoint ministers in excess of five years. It was voted down. The discussion was continued pro and con by a number of speakers until Dr. Monroe moved for the previous question, and it was ordered. Dr. Gray's motion to refer to the annual Conference was laid on the table.

The view of the Conference on the time limit was then shown by the vote on laying the minority report on the table. The motion was rejected. The vote on accepting the minority report stood 20% to 162, thus defeating the proposition to remove the time limit, and the minority report was then adopted by a viva voce vote.

minority report was then adopted by a viva voos vota.

The Committee on Temperance and Prohibition susmitted its report, which demands that the Church and every Christian wage coaseless war against the liquor traffic; that every Christian withdraw his patronage from persons directly or indirectly interested in it; commends the Supreme Court for preserving the rights of the States to legislate for the benefit of the morals and health of its citizen; commends the United States Senate and condemns the House for their legislation on the liquor question; condemns the general Government for using the machinery of the Government to exterd the sale of liquor in South America, and calls upon the people to South America, and calls upon the recoile to use their power of ballot to defent any party which criminally allies itself with the liquor interests by licensing the manufacture of interests by iteensing the manufacture of spirits.

The report was heartily applauded, but Judge Lawrence of Ohioquickly offered a substitute to the effect that the position of the Methodist Episcopal Church is amply set forth in the address of the Bislops, which demands complete prohibition and enjoins temperance as the only salvation; that in politics the Church is non-partisan and non-sectarian, and allows each member to cast his ballot as his conscience directs.

Judge Lawrence delivered a strong address, holding that the report endorsed the Prohition party and condemns the Republican party when it charges criminal collusion by licensing the manufacture of spirits. He demanded that the Church put itself on record in favor of no parties.

The value of the secondance of the substitute.

icensing the manufacture of spirits. Ho demanded that the Church put itself on record in favor of no parties.

The vote on the acceptance of the substitute was then taken, resulting in its defeat by a vote of 200 to 246. The report was then adopted and the widest enthusiasm. Hats, papers, handkerchiefs, andbooks were thrown into the air and wild shouts echoed through the building.

Dr. Little then moved that it be the sense of the Conference that the report just adopted does not endorse any political party. The Probloitionists ried to choke this off by a motion to table, but were voted down. On the vote being taken the motion was adopted amid a similar tumult scene on the part of the Republicans. It was fully five minutes before order was restored.

The Committee on Chinese Exciusion submitted a report denouncing the law as unjust, and as a violation of the spirit. If not the letter, of the troaty with China. Congress is asked to so amend the law as to remove these objectionable features, securing the rights of the Chinese residents in this country. The report was unanimously adopted.

Under a suspension of the rules the report of the Committee on Conference Districts was taken up. A few minor changes were made. The Baltimore Conference was transferred to the Philadelphia district. New York received three new conferences. The report was adopted.

Mayor Boody Speaks for Brooklyn.

Mayor Boody of Brooklyn has sent this letter to Samuel B. Duryen in response to his offer to present eight acres to the city in case the plan of laying out an extensive driveway along the shore road is carried out: "My DEAR SIR: In behalf of the city of Brook-favor of the 23d inst., in which you express your purpose to give to our city a certain valuable tract of land, to be used as a public parkway, in accordance with the provisions of a recent act of the Legislature.

"This gift is of great pecuniary value, but its worth to our city is far greater than any estimation of this character. A city's real strength is found in the pride and devotion of her citizens. Your action reflects honor and character upon our citizenship at large. It increases our confidence in each other and gives us a rich promise for the future.

"I beg to express my personal appreciation of the privilege which you afford me of being the medium through which a citizen gives such noble proof of his devotion to Brooklyn."

Killed Climbing Through the Window. POUGHREEPSIE, May 24.-Patrick Kelly shot and killed James Tobin, a farm hand, 25 years old, in Amenia last night. Kelly lives about smile from the village. Tobin called at his house last night and Kelly refused to admit him. Tobin started to climb through the window when Kelly shot him in the head, the bullet passing clear through. Death was instantaneous. Kelly then carried the body to a field close by and left it there until this morning. Coronor Wilbur telegraphs to-night that Kelly's wife called to Tobin to break into the house and release her from a room in which she had been locked.

WANT ALL THE BLANCO MILLIONS. Seventeen Dispossess Suits Brought in New

Through the filing of some unimportant pa pers in the County Clerk's office yesterday at interesting lawsuit came to light, or rather seventeen interesting lawsuits. They all per two brothers José Lopez Blanco and Manue

The suits involve property that may be worth anywhere from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. Mr. Christopher Fine of 114 Nassau street is ounsel for the plaintiffs, but he was very much averse to having anything printed about of business is not mentioned in the papers.

the suits. He said:
"The case will interest no one but lawyers. Bartolomé Blanco died in 1874, and left a for tune. This fortune, invested mostly in real es tate, passed through the hands of allens to the present possessors. The first Blanco was a foreigner, and the case involves the naturalization laws of this State eighteen years ago. I claim that my clients are entitled to all the property. It is scattered all over the city and is worth several millions. We hold that the tilde of the present holders is illegal. It is all a question of title, and the suits are merely actions of dispossess. I really do not care to say anything more about the matter. If you go to Coudert Brothers they will probably tell you everything. Here are seventeen suits altogether, and they are the defendants in nine of them. They know more about the Blanco estate than any body else in this city."

Mr. James Richards of Coudert Brothers said: tion laws of this State eighteen years ago. I nine of them. They know more about the Blanco estate than any body else in this city."

Mr. James Richards of Coudert Brothers said:

"I can tell you all about the Blanco estate and its history, but I haven't the slightest idea of the grounds on which Mr. Fine's clients claim it. We were simply served with a summons and a complaint, in which they claimed that they were entitled to the property which is now in our hands.

"Bartolome Blanco was a bachelor, who died here in 1874 at the age of 80 years, lied died very suddenly and left a real and personal estate that amounted to ever $2,000,000. He left a will that had been made a good many years before, and all the witnesses to it had died. It was impossible to prove it except as a will of personal estate.

By the terms of his will his property was left in about the same manner as if he had died intestate, namely, to his heirs-at-law, who were four sisters, all living in Spain, and the children, six in number, of a deceased brother. All these heirs were allens. Coudert Brothers took charge of the division of the estate, having been retained by one of the nephews, who came over and became a citizen. It is believed that all the male heirs of Bartolomé Blanco came to this country and took out their citizenship paners.

"The property was partitioned by mutual consent in 1875, and the greater part of it has been sold to various purchasers in this city, and the title accepted as good by all the principal conveyancers. As far as we know some eight or nine suits, involving nearly $3,000,000, have lately been begun by two persons, José Lopez Blanco and Manuel Lopez Blanco, who are the children of a sister of the tostator. Their mother, who is now dead, had her share of the estate, and divided it among her eight children, including the two plaintiffs, simply reserving an income for herself. Several years ago, these two plaintiffs and a brother since deceased brought suit against other branches of the family in the nature of a partition aut, claiming that they were defeated fee of the entire property. The suit was tried in May, 1884, and though eminent counsel were engaged plaintiffs were defeated and that suit ended.

On Dec. 12, 1891, these new suits were begun. The papers do not disclose the nature of the claim of the plaintiff, containing merely a formal statement that they are entitled to the immediate possession of the property, and the answer so far filed merely alleges that the defendants. Coudert Brothers, are seized in fee and entitled to the premises, and deny that the plaintiffs have any rights whatever. As far as any lawsuits are concerned, all the property involved in the suits against Coudert Brothers belongs to the firm.

The papers that were filed contain a claim to a one-half interest in the building at 278 Water street, now held by Francesca Garcia Blanco de Curras and others. This building brings an annual rental of $10,000, and the plaintiffs want $80,000 for past rent. Then there is a house at 210 East Eleventh street held according to the papers by Coudert Brothers. This brings an annual rental of $1,500, and $1,000 is claimed as past rental. The other suits are all against lawyers representing clients whose names they will not reveal.

SHE SAW A MASKED BURGLAR.

Mrs. Haynor is Confident She was Wide

A story about a masked burglar was related to Police Captain Leavy of the Butler street station in Brooklyn yesterday. The narrator was Mary N. Haynor of 641 Hicks street, whose husband, George N. Haynor, a machinist, went away a few weeks ago and enlisted in the navy. Mrs. Haynor lives on the top floor of the house with her four-months-old infant They were alone, with the doors securely locked on Monday night. She told Capt. Leavy yesterday morning that she was awakened by a peculiar noise about 4 o'clock, and opening a closet, from which the noise seemed to come, she confronted a tall man with a black mask over his face. She screamed, whereupon the masked stranger drew a re-volver, and, pointing it at her head, threatened to kill her if she did so again. She then revoiver, and, pointing it at her head, threatened to kill her if she did so again. She then retreated, trembling, toward an inner room. The burglar followed. He selzed her around the waist, threw her down, and tore three rings from her fingers. He then ransacked the bureau drawers, and, not discovering any more valuables, went off.

Mrs. Haynor exhibited some bruises on her hands and arms in corroboration of her story. She could not describe the marauder, not having had an opportunity to see his face. Capt. Leavy sent two detectives to the house to make an investigation, and in a few minutes they discovered the missing rings under a sofa beside which Mrs. Haynor says the struggle occurred. Capt. Leavy thinks that Mrs. Haynor saw the masked burglar in a dream, but she is confident she was wide awake. It is added to the story that one of the detectives, in replacing the rings on Mrs. Haynor's fingers, jound that the wedding ring went on very easily, but that the other two could be put on only with hard pressure.

PLAYED A SKIN GAME WITH JUSTICE. It Costs Gus Johnson's Friends Only $3,000 to Keep Him Out of Prison.

Gus Johnson, sporting man, who was arrested about two months ago upon the charge of buncoing George W. Frey out of $1,000 on Jan. U, was arraigned yesterday in the General Sessions, before Recorder Smyth. His counsel moved that he be discharged on his own recognizance, as the District Attorney had failed to try him within two months after the finding of the indictment. Assistant District Attornoy Davis said that the failure was due Attornoy Davis said that the failure was due to the fact that Frey could not be found, and there was no probability of finding him. Therefore, the District Attorney was not in a position to try Johnson. Recorder Smyth granted the metion and discharged Johnson. When Johnson was first arrested he was released under $3,000 ball. Frey was committed to the House of Detention as a witness. Johnson skipped his ball.

In the absence of Johnson, Johnson's counsel obtained Frey's release from the House of Detention on ball, and Frey 'skipped' also.

Then Johnson appeared in the General Sesions and said that he was ready for trial. His energetic counsel asked that the forfeiture of his ball he rescinded; but, instead of rescinding this forfeiture, Judge Fitzgerald ordered that he give new ball in the sum of sk.000. In default of this ball he was committed to the Tombs.

In discharging Johnson resterday Recorder Smyth said that he hoped that the District Attorney would lose no time in collecting the $3,000 due under the forfeiture from Nathan L.
Bennett, Johnson's bondsman.

Tried to Fire a Tenement.

Mrs. Margaret D. Cook, who occupies the second floor in the tenement 145 Butler street, Brooklyn, was aroused early yesterday morn ing by a noise in the hallway. Looking over the balustrades, she saw, by the light of a the balustrades, she saw, by the light at a match which one of them held, three strange men close to the front door. She raised an alarm, and the strangers took to flight. She saw a biaze, and, after the men disappeared, she went down stairs and found that the walls in the hallway had been saturated with coal oil in three places and set on fire. Having extinguished the fire, she went to the Butler street police station and reported the incident. Capt. Leavey is making an investigation.

Brooklyn's Poul Room Still Open.

Capt. Campbell and Counsel McCloskey of the Police Department in Brooklyn had a long conference yesterday with Justice Waish in the Adams Street Court in relation to Charley Johnston's pool room in Feinion to take, Johnston's pool room in Fulton street, which has been open for more than a week. The Captain, it is understood, asked for a warrant for Johnston's arrest on some facts elicited by the detectives, but Justice Walsh refused to grant one. The police are exercised over the announcement that other pool rooms are to be started in various parts of the city.

The Western Union Telegraph Company. the Washington Fire Department, and the elgek circuit of the Washington Observatory are all connected by wire with the standard regulator, from which the time is officially sent out at noon each day. When the signal is transmitted to all parts of the country it is heard in every telegraph office through which it passes. After preliminary signals, at the very instant of noon a signal lasting a full accord is sent, this length of signal being necessary to insure the working of the electrosecond is sent, this length of signal being necessary to insure the working of the electromagnets which drop the time balls and correct the clocks on the circuit. Time balls are dropped in this way at New York, Joston, Newport, Wood's Hole, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Fortress Monroe, Savannah, and New Orleans.

A few minutes before noon the ball on the Western Union building in this city will be hoisted into place by an operator, and when its released automatically by the electric signal from Washington it will drop into the cast iron cylinder, shown in the cut, in which an air cushion will arrest its fail. A supplementary ball will be placed at the Broadway and Dey street corner of the building, where it may be seen from the near-by streets.

NARONDESS WANTED NOW.

Lender Must Go to Prison. Joseph Barondoss is not to have a new trial. but must serve the term of one year and nine months in prison to which Judge Van Brun sentenced him in the Court of Oyer and Terminer last fall. The Court of Appeals save this in a decision which it handed down yester day on an appeal by the people from the order of the General Term granting the new trial.

The Court of Appenis Says the Strike

Barondess is the labor agitator who directed the big clonkmakers' strike. He was convicted of extorting $100 from the cloak manufacturing firm of Popkin & Marks, on the strength of a threat that he would not allow the striking workmen to go back unless that sum of money was paid. The General Torm. Judge Daniels dissenting, decided that as Bar ondess had used no violence and had not threat ened injury to any specific property a case had not been made against him and that he was entitled to a new trial. The Court of Appeals reverses this decision.

It was stated yesterday at the office of Howe & Hummel, Barondess's lawyers, that their client is not in the city and that they know client is not in the city and that they know nothing of his whereabouts. Three months ago he went to Boston to organize the cloakmakers there. Before leaving he made a theatrical speech in which he declared that the cloakmakers of this city, whose ido he was for a time, were ingrates and that he was glad to shake the dust of New York off his leet forever. Two months ago he was heard of in Philadelphia, and later was in Albany. His lawyers do not know if it is his intention to return and submit to the mandate of the court and serve his term of sentence or not.

Assistant District Attorney Stapler obtained Assistant District Attorney Stapler obtained yesterday a bench warrant for the arrest of Barondess and gave it to Detective Sorgeant Trainer. Mr. Stapler said that the decision was of great importance. The General Term reversed the conviction on the ground that extortion must be on a threat to destroy tangible property. The decision of the Court of Appeals establishes the precedent that the word "property" in the section of the Penal Code delining the crime of extortion embraces injury to the intangible property in a man's business. The claim of the prosecution was that Barondess's threatened injury to the business of Popkin & Marks was as much a conspiracy as if he had threatened to destroy their property. The Court of Appeals. Mr. Stapler said, had cleared the way for future prosecutions for conspiracy to extort.

THE LATE WILLIAM H. VANDERBILT, His Funeral Will Take Place from St. Bar-

The arrangements for the funeral of William H. Vanderbilt were perfected yesterday. The funeral will be held at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, Forty-fifth street and Madison avenue, at 10 o'clock on Friday morning, and the church's rector, the Rev. Dr. Green, will officiate. The interment will be in the Vanderbilt mausoleum at New Dorp, Staten Island. The pall bearers have not been chosen yet, but it is expected that most of them will be the classmates at Yale of young Mr. Vanderbilt.

it is expected that most of them will be the classmates at Yale of young Mr. Vanderbilt. His roommate, Moses Taylor, is mentioned as one of the probable pall bearers.

There was almost a constant stream of callers vesterday at the house of Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, the father of the young man. Mr. John Hone and Chaucecy M. Depew were at the house much of the day. The curtains were drawn and the outer door was closed.

The members of the Vanderbilt family are scattered. The Sloanes are on the Pacific coast, while W. K. Vanderbilt, is on the ocean on his way to New York. Of the other brother of Cornelius Vanderbilt, is on the becan on his way to New York. Of the other brothers, Fred'k Vanderbilt is in London, and George W. Vanderbilt is in Paris. Juntor Elections at Yale Announced Quietly New Haven, May 24.-The announcement of the elections to the college junior societies was a quiet affair to-night. Psi U., of which William H. Vanderbilt was a member, came on the campus without a light and quietly gave out its electors. D. K. E. carried one calcium light and neither society sang or engaged in any of the rushes which usually take place. All of the active members retired to their halls and 18th U. passed resolutions appropriate to the death of Mr. Vanderbilt.

Identifies Kenting as the Buncoer.

CORTLAND, May 24.-The examination of William C. Kesting, arrested last Saturday in Schenectady by Sheriff John Miller for buncoing George Fitts, a farmer of McLean, out of $0,000, began to-day. Fitts claims to identify Keating. He said that on Sept. 25, 1801, a man drove to his house and said he was nephew of Judge Boardman, a well-known hanker of Ithaca. He wanted to buy a farm. Fitts started to show him his sister's farm, and on the way they met a man who said he had lost a pile of money, but would least the game yet. He showed a roll of bills which he claimed contained $40,000, and then produced a three-card monte outfit. All played, and "Boardman" and Fitts won steadily. "Boardman" finally secretly proposed that Fitts get more capital, and then they could win a pile from the stranger, as he seemed to be in hard luck. Fitts came to Cortland, drew $1,000 from the First National Bank, and went back and met the stranger hear Grove, in a lonely spot. Fitts showed the money. "Boardman" put it in a tin box, and then forced Fitts out of the buggy, after which the confederates drove away. H. E. Andrews, keeper of the Hotel Linkiaen here, identified Keating as one of two men who drove a horse and buggy to his hotel the day Farmer Fitts was buncoed. Reating is the man who was arrosted for assisting in the escape of O'Brien, the "king of bunce men." nephew of Judge Boardman, a well-known

On Monday night he visited the house with husband, is employed in this city, but he did not go ito work yesterday. It is said that he is scared about the part he took in the elopement, and fears his father-in-law's wrath.

Young Clow drew $25 from the bank on Saturday, and from this fact it is surmised that the elopement was planned beforehand. Miss Harding took no extra clothing with her, but she had on a new spring suit.

It is believed that the young couple were married, and that they will come home contrite in a day or two. They are both young looking for their ages, however, and may not have found an accommodating minister.
Harding says that if he finds that they have been married he will have the marriage annulled.

He had the sense to rush out into the street and hysterically wave his hands about his head. That brought to a stop Battalion Chief Sam Campbell, who led his companies to the scene. The janitor shouted to the Chief that he only wanted an ambulance. The quick-witted Chief wheeled about and whipped his horse up the street again, waving his hands as a signal for the engines and hook and ladder trucks to go back. Mr. Blanc says that he is the sole possessor of the secret formula. Mrs. Blanc says she can make just as good an article as he can. She has the shining brass signs which used to hang out in front of Mr. Blanc's John street place, but Mr. David Gerber of Mr. Blanc's firm of legal advisers says that she will be unable to use them, except for old brass, because that would be an infringement on the right of the incorporated company. Mrs. Blanc has all the machinery of the old company, and stands ready to selze any new machinery which may be acquired until ner judgment is satisfied.

Res-Demorest.

Miss Evelyn Louise Demorest, daughter of Mr. W. Jennings Demorest, was married at 8 district Liverpool. City of Chicago, Live o'clock last night to Mr. Alexander Garretson Friedmid, Antwerp Rea of Philadelphia, in the Collegiate Re-formed Church. The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Deems and the Rev. a tulle veil caught up with a half corone of orange blossoms. Her only orhament was a necklace of solitaire diamonds, a present from the bridegroom.

Two little nieces of the bride, Marguerite Demorest and Alice Louise Demorest, were the maids of honor. They were attired in quaint directoire costumes of white silk and lace. The bridesmaids were Miss Jennic Ganno, Miss Luella Gorham, Miss Lillie Hillott, and Miss katharine Hansom, who were dresses of white silk muslin, embroidered with sweet peas, made with demi-trains and deep capes of Mochlin lace. Each carried a bunch of Catharine Mermet roses and on her head word a wreath of pink flowers.

Mr. Porter Grier of Danville, Pa., was best man. The ushers, who received gold and jewelled scarf pins from the bridegroom, were: Mr. Bobert Mitchell, Mr. Arthur Little, and Mr. Maurice Clemens of this city; Mr. Rufus K. Polk of Danville, Pa.; Mr. Frederick Drake of Eastou, Pa., and Mr. Charles Stanton of Philadelphia.

A large reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 21 East Pifty-seventh street, after the church ceremony. Among some of the gifts shown to the friends of the young couple was a handsome loving cup, with the word "Sorosis" inscribed on one side and the name of the bride in a charter member of Sorosis. Mr. and Mrs. Rea will make their home in Philadelphia.

The child has become a general favorite among the doctors and attaches of the function of the f FOR JEWISH CHILDREN.

Dedication of a Hantinrium at Rock

Several handred Jewish residents of this and neighboring cities witnessed the dedication of the new sanitarium for Hebrew children at Rockaway Park, Rockaway Beach, yesterday. A special train carried them from Long Island City. Rockaway Park is at the terminus of the Rockaway Beach Bailroad. The dedicatory ceremonies were under the direction of Nathan Lewis, President of the Sanitarium Association, who looked after the party.

The building faces the ocean. Addresses were made by Senator John A. Cantor, Corone Ferdinand Levy, Nathan Lewis, and the Rev Henry S. Jacobs. Prayer was made by the Henry S. Jacobs. Prayer was made by the Rev. Dr. Tauberhaus. A band furnished music. After the exercises were over the house was thrown open for inspection and refreshments were furnished.

It was built by voluntary subscriptions, and represents the second effort made by this association to found a sanitarium at this place. The first structure was nearing completion about two years age when it was destroyed by fire. The present structure has accommodations for 100 inmates. The building and site cost $25,000, and the furnishings $2,500. It was opened free of debt. Among those who contributed large amounts to the fund was Joseph H. Schiff, who gave $15,000.

The object of the sanitarium is to give children of the poor living in the large cities an outing during the summer.
